PROFIL

Fiona Ziegler grew up in Basel and Bern. She studied literature, history and international politics at the University of Fribourg, Bologna and Geneva, where she graduated with a Master degree in International Studies from the Graduate Institute IHEID. She worked as a freelancer for the newspaper Der Bund, was assistant director at the Theater Hebbel HAU in Berlin and studied "Method Acting" at the Lee Strasberg Theatre & Film Institute in NYC. She completed her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in screenwriting and directing at FAMU in Prague. Her feature film debut "Lost in Paradise" premiered at the Prague International Film Festival in 2021 and was nominated for the "Prix du Public" at the Solothurn Film Festival in Switzerland. Fiona's previous short films "Home" (2013), "2:1" (2013), "God Particle" (2015) and "Thank You Ben" (2016; Award: Best Film "New Delhi Short Film Festival") were shown and awarded at international festivals. Now, she works on her second and third feature films "Too Fragile For This Life" and "Frames of Freedom - Věra Chytilová". Fiona has been a jury member at film festivals (including Miskolc Int. Film Festival in Hungary & ZFF, Switzerland) and is an alumni of the ZFF Academy 2016, MIDPOINT and MFI. She taught at FIOFA, teaches at FAMU; since 2024 she is President of the Bern Film Fund.
